Good story. Writing quite difficult to read.

On a summer morning, Jack went to the beach and found a chest. He opened the chest and saw a treasure. The chest had red jewels, coins, gold and diamonds.

After the discovery, Jack was surprised because he was only 12 years old. Then he ran to the discovery center to tell what he found. The manager of that place was also surprised. With his commands the scientists of the city studied the item and concluded that it was a pirate chest. They put the pirate chest in a museum. They give him 3 million dollars and he became a happy rich man.
