

A dark skinned man, dressed in a black suit and dark glasses walks down a country road with no streetlights. A black car with no lights on comes racing down the road. Why doesn't the car hit the man?

Answer: It's daylight.